Lets All Be Thankful

A kind providence and a generous public have showered upon us during the past year, blessings for which we are truly thankful. It is right that the day should be devoted to thoughts that are in harmony with the occasion; and in accordance with this spirit our store will be closed on Thanksgiving day. May our patrons find much happiness in the pursuit of their pleasures on this our National day, so here's to you for a good Thanksgiving dinner and a jolly reunion around the family table.

forced us to cut a few items from our excellent letters.

City Marshal, Herron tells us that he never saw a more quiet and orderly court day crowd in this city than that last Monday.

County Court.

The crowd was an average one and business was brisk. Capt. Am Bourne reports a few cattle selling, from 34 to 4 cents, plug horses brought from $25 to $40; aged mules from $125 to $175.

Mr. A. C. Robinson has a handsome walking cane, made from dogwood bush, the root being used as the handle. It is beautifully finished and he appreciates it very much, it being a present from his friend, Mr. Mack Huffman of Stanford.

Delegate.

Dr. E. H. Pearce will go as a delegate to the National Inter-Church Council, at Philadelphia, December
2-8, and will be absent from his church service, in Lancaster on Sunday 29,
and at McKendree church on December 6th.

Dr. J. A. Kinnaman, of Bowling Green, will speak at the Christian church next Sunday, 29th, at 11 o'clock
A. M., and the other churches will adjoin in order that all may have an opportunity to hear him. He speaks in the interest of education, and, being a very able man, everybody should attend.

Sale of City Property.

Mr. Alexander Walker has sold the Bradley property, on Lexington Ave., to J. R. Mount, at $4,500. This is handsome property and the public will be glad to learn that Mr. Mount and his excellent family intend to make Lancaster their permanent home.

A Splendid Bargain.

We have 200 acres of land, in two and a half miles of the thriving town forth the necessity of patronizing your results for the town and county.

Dogs Sold.

While attending the Fox Hunter's meeting at Crab Orchard, Mr. J. R.
Ray, of Buckeye, sold to S. C. Woodridge of Versailles two hounds for $100.
We hear that about fifty hunters attended the meeting and had a pleasant time.

says: "The fowl I ordered the Bourbon poultry cure for have recovered

New Committee.

The following Democratic county committee was elected last Saturday to serve four years. Their names are given in the order of the serial numbers of the precincts:

Loyd Bourne, R. M. West, James
Clark, John Ruble, Ike Dunn, Jr., J.
O. Bogie, Joseph Ross, E. L. Woods,

gentlemen, for the success of the Democratic party in every campaign.

Circuit Court.

This court convened Monday, with his honor, Judge W. C. Bell, on the bench, who gave the Grand jury a thorough and learned instruction in reference to their duties in procuring testimony and finding indictments for violations of law. Special attention was called to infraction of election laws. The prosecuting attorneys and all the officers of the court were at their posts to do their duty in turning the wheels of justice. The disposition of cases will be mentioned as the term progresses. Court adjourned Wednesday till Monday on account of Thanksgiving and the election Saturday.

Special Service.

A special Educational service will be held at the Christian Church Sunday, Nov. 29th at eleven o'clock. All the churches of the town have been invited to take part in this service, and it is very much desired that everybody be present. Dr. Kinnaman, of Bowling Green, will be present and will give an address.

Never before have the people of Kentucky been so much awake to the educational needs of her people. Beginning on Sunday, Nov. 29th an educational campaign will be launched at some fifty different points and will continue for eight days. It is planned to reach every nook and corner of the State during this eight days campaign.

To The Democrats of Garrard Co.
We appeal to all our democratic friends to be at the opening of the polls Saturday by six o'clock and render us all honorable assistance in securing the nomination for sheriff.

The democratic party has had my services in every battle for more than twenty-five years. For this I have never had any recognition and have never sought from my party any except the nomination for sheriff.

My opponent in this election, Mr.
Dave Ross, has been elected by the party three times to the office of Jailer, each time without opposition for the nomination. When his present term of Jailier expires he will have held office from the party for twelve years.

All will agree that with my deputy,
Mr. C. A. Robinson we can administer the office of sheriff as efficiently as Mr. Ross.

From a party view point, I ask you my fellow democrats, am I not entitled to this nomination for sheriff?

I will greatly appreciate your vote
and help.

the trial.

Reversal.

The court of Appeals has reversed
the case of the commonwealth against W. H. Ward, who was fined $500 on the charge of challenging to fight a duel. His attorney, W. I. Williams, contended that he was not guilty of that charge.

W. O. Dunlap went to Nashville to arrest Ollie Hall, who is wanted here for horse stealing, having escaped from jail; but he had stolen a horse down there, shot himself and was in the hospital. So he will be here later, if he lives.

Good Results.

Our statement sometime ago, that the Lancaster Tobacco Warehouse would prove a blessing to our farmers in giving them a ready and an accessible market for their tobacco, has been verified by recent developments.
The company has already bought several hundred thousand pounds at 13 to 17 cents, and, as most of it was raised in Garrard county, it is gratifying to know that considerable money will be received by our farmers, and that the man who is prepared to raise tobacco,
at the prices, next year will be on easy street. It also proves our contention that land, that will produce such a valuable crop, will always be in demand at a high price, and as Garrard is one of the best tobacco counties in the state, our land is worth more than it brings.

GOLD FOR CHRISTMAS.

Tobacco Growers Victorious!

The American Tobacco Co., has bought pooled Burley to the amount of twelve millions of dollars. About seventy millions pounds pass from planter to manufacturer. About 60,- 000,000 pounds of 1907 crop brings 17 cents a pound, and 10,000,000 pounds 1906 crop brings 20 cents per pound.
The deal covers 75 per cent of the 1906 and 1907 crops. About $12,000,000 will be brought to Kentucky. Speaking of the deal the President of the Burley Society said:—"I believe what we did to-day will meet with general approval among the tobacco growers. The American Tobacco Company came up to the scratch with us, and the price paid was far in advance of prices that have prevailed for many years. It is a victory for the tobacco grower generally; I believe it will prove a settlement of all the disturbing conditions that have existed, not only in Kentucky, but in Tennessee; and that there will be smooth sailing now."

Tobacco Barns.

If you are going to erect a Barn either for tobacco or other purposes, now is the time to buy your LUMBER for the following reasons.

Owing to the enormous amount of tobacco that is going to be raised this coming year the demand for LUMBER likewise will be increased, so if you wait till the time to house your tobacco before you build, like many will of course be delayed. The demand for gold dollars for Christmas gifts is causing the coinage of five hundred thousand every day at the Philadelphia mint.

It is reported that Taft favors honest tariff revision, and if he does, he will make a popular president, for more people would be benefited by a reduction, than by allowing the schedules to remain as they are.

It is to be hoped that no whisky or money will be used Saturday to induce floaters to destroy genuine democratic votes. We see no difference between destroying our ballot by a match, and destroying the effect of it by voting a floater.

Returns from the 119 counties of the State, show that Bryan received a total of 244,243 votes; Taft, 235,334; plurality for Bryan, 8,909 votes. The votes for the other tickets in Kentucky follows: Prohibition, 5,866; Socialist, 4,037; Socialist Labor, 842; People's party, 324; Independent party, 77.

Kentucky's electors for President will meet at Frankfort, on the second Monday in January, when they will cast the vote for Bryan, and appoint a Messenger to carry it to Washington. They receive mileage and five dollars per day while they are in session. They ought to have received some funds to defray campaign expenses.

R. L. Hubble, was nominated on the first ballot, by the democratic convention at Liberty on the 19th, to make the race to succeed himself in the State Senate. Casey, Lincoln and Garrard voted for him and Boyle voted for Mr. H. G. Wingate, of Danville. Senator Hubble's name appears among other nominees at the head of our column.

Years ago cotton was said to be king, in the Southern States, and it is now true that tobacco is king in Kentucky and a few more states. The recent purchase, by the American Tobacco Company, from the Burley Tobacco Society, after the county had been convulsed and shocked, by unknown parties who tried by force to regulate the growing and the marketing of the product, proves that tobacco rules with as much power, as any tyrant that wields the scepter. This sale will bring about twelve millions of dollars to Kentucky, and is a decided victory for the planter, the price being double the price paid a short time ago.

Speaking for the creation of tariff commission, Senator Beverage said: "As our tariffs have heretofore been constructed by both parties, they have been unscientific and crude. Nothing but our great natural resources, utterly overshadowing those of other nations, have saved our foreign trade from extinction. We are ashamed by the fact that comparatively Germany to-day sells ten finished manufactured articles abroad where we sell one. Germany has been able to do this chiefly by her double tariff system. This she builds by having an expert commission solve the subject. A wise tariff law cannot be struck off by men not students of the question, working for a few weeks without training or aptitude for their work. The demand of the business and producing interests of the United States for a modern tariff commission cannot longer be ignored."

Thanksgiving furnishes much that is sweet in verse and prose, and in song and oration. The sweet sentiment created by being grateful is indeed beautiful. So strong is the inclination to express gratitude, that an ingrate is regarded as a low, detestable character, and very properly so. There is nothing new about this obligation to give thanks. The child thanks its parents for every little gift while we, who are only grown children, thank our Heavenly Father for the countless blessings we enjoy. While it is true that we are always thankful, it is wise to have a day set apart, by the authorities, to emphasize this duty, this high privilege, and be who looks lightly upon Thanksgiving Day, and spends it in revelry and drunkenness, is not worthy to enjoy the blessings that are showered upon him. Let us be thankful in fact, for all spiritual blessings, and for the

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To The Voters Of Garrard County Kentucky.

For the past six years I have been frequently urged and solicited by a great number of good democrats of Garrard County to run for some county office, more especially that of Circuit Court Clerk, and no one offering to run for that position, on September 25th 1908 I appeared before the Garrard County Democratic Committee under their call to candidates and submitted my claim for the office of Clerk of Garrard Circuit Court, subject to their action, and on said date the committee called a primary election to be held Saturday, November 28th, 1908, to nominate all candidates who had opposition, among others, to my surprise, that of Circuit Clerk. I again announce myself for that important office to the people, feeling that my experience in said office enables me to discharge the duties thereof better than ever before. As to my qualifications to discharge each and every duty pertaining thereto, I refer to every Lawyer, Judge or other county officer who knows me, in the state of Kentucky. I will not be able to see all of the voters before the primary election but any support you may give me at said primary will be thankfully received and gratefully appreciated by your PUBLIC SERVANT.

Sincerely,
W. B. MASON.

To The Voters

To the Democratic voters of Magisterial District No 1, Garrard County Kentucky:

I am and have been for some time past, a candidate for the office of Justice of the Peace for said district. I was a candidate before the recent meeting of the Committee and believe under the party law that said Committee had no right to make a nomination for any office prior to November 1st. The party law reads as follows: "Said State Executive Committee or any other Committee shall not call a primary or convention for the nomination of a Democratic candidate or candidates for any office to be filled by a popular vote prior to the 1st day of November in the year next preceding the year in which the election is to be held for which said candidate is to be voted for."

I am a candidate for said office and will be until the people say that they do not want me to fill said office and I take this method of informing my friends that I am a candidate and will thank them for their support.

Yours Respectfully,
DAVID DUDDERAR.

This Oct 14th, 1908.

Are You a Trust Buster?

Hey—You!
Yes, YOU'RE the man we mean.

You're always talking about the harm the trusts are doing. The country's going to the demnation bowwows, you say, because of the un-curbed trusts. Rich growing richer, poor getting poorer. Used to be that a poor man could go into business for himself in a modest way and make a good living. Now he must become a clerk or a roustabout or a hodcarrier for some corporation—some combination that has grown to be a Goliath of bigness, that has devoured the fat of the land and is still gormandizing upon it, till there's not a scrap of bone left for the under dog.

That's your line of talk. You're still handing it out, and you're proud of it.

Well, now, let's see: Are YOU a trust buster YOURSELF?

Didn't we see you stalk up to the postoffice just now and mail a letter with the address of a city Mail Order Store on the envelope? Hey? Didn't we?

Don't you know that the Mail Order Store is a trust—one of the most dangerous in the crowd? Don't you know that it is secretly and silently and slyly closing the doors of opportunity to the young men in country towns and small cities like ours? Don't you know that the Mail Order Trust is collecting the patronage of town and country people by the mail route, thereby cutting down the patronage of the smaller merchant, the local man who is trying to build up a modest, independent, antitrust business?

Hey!

Didn't that ever occur to you?

N. B. (which means note well): Why don't you trade at home instead of helping to build up a trust that hurts your home place?

Obituary of Mrs. Susan A. Bourne.

Susan A. Bourne, was born August 28, 1828 in Washington County, Kentucky and departed this life October 16, 1908. She was eighty years of age and a remarkable woman. Mrs. Bourne was married to James Bourne in the year 1845 and since then she has resided in Garrard. She was the mother of nine children, six of them are still living, the others having preceded her. Her husband died forty-three years ago leaving her the care and great responsibility of raising a large family of children. In this she succeeded well, working hard, meeting with many discouragements which she overcame with an earnestness that not many women possess.

While yet in Kentucky at an early age of sixteen she professed faith in Christ and united with the old Fork Church.

Mrs. Bourne was greatly afflicted for several months before her death but her sufferings were borne with fortitude and patience and she talked much about her departure hence "Longing for that rest which remains for the people of God."

At the last she reiterated her hope of a life after this life telling of her friends and neighbors, exhorting them to live better. What an example for Christians and sinners.

Yet she never claimed perfection in this life often speaking of her imperfections but to be satisfied when she should, awake with his likeness.

The hand of the kind physicians had done all in their power, so the devoted children and friends could only bow in humble submission and weep for the dear one who has passed away.

During her last moments she bid her family and friends farewell telling each one to meet her in heaven. Among her last words were these, "Farewell to all I'm going home," and then she repeated the twenty-third Psalm.

The hearts of those left behind are sad, and there are vacancies in the homes, but the joy in Heaven is far in excess of all earthly sorrow.

Her day has indeed ended, her sun of life has set, beyond the horizon of our vision, yet streaming radiantly upward, lingers the fragrant memory of her life and it will abide with us for many, many days.

Funeral services were conducted October 18, at the Lancaster Baptist Church by Rev. H. M. Shouse and O. P. Bush and the remains were laid to rest in the Lancaster cemetery to wait the resurrection morn.

We have lost our darling mother, she has bid us all adieu; She has gone to live in heaven, And her form is lost to view. Oh, that dear one, how we loved her! Oh, how hard to give her up! But an angel came down for her, And removed her from our dock. S. B.

How is your Digestion.

Mrs. Mary Dowling of No 228 8th Ave., San Francisco, recommends a remedy for stomach trouble. She says: "Gratitude for the wonderful effect of Electric Bitters in a case of acute indigestion, prompts this testimonial. I am fully convinced that for stomach and liver troubles Electric Bitters is the best remedy on the market to day." This great tonic and alterative medicine invigorates the system, purifies the blood and is especially helpful in all forms of female weakness. 50c at R. E. McRoberts drug store. 1m

Thanksgiving

Sing unto the Lord with thanksgiving. —Psalm 147:3.

THANKSGIVING is one of our highest and holiest duties. There are in the Scriptures more commands and calls to praise than to prayer. Yet few duties are more frequently neglected than this. There are many people who are always coming to God with requests but who do not come to him with thanksgiving after their requests have been granted. Ten lepers once cried to Jesus for cleansing, as he was passing them at a distance. He graciously heard them and granted their plea. When they had been healed, one of the ten returned to thank the healer, but the other nine came not again with any word of recognition of the great favor they had received. So it is continually many are blessed and helped, but few show gratitude. Our Lord felt keenly the ingratitude of the lepers who returned not. "Where are the nine?" was his pained question. God pours out gifts and blessings every day upon his children; and whenever no voice of thanksgiving is heard in return he misses it. If one bird of the forest is silent in the glad spring day, he misses its song. If one human heart fails to utter its praise amid life's countless blessings, he is disappointed.

Many there are who think that if certain definite days are set apart for praise it is enough. For example, they will be grateful for a whole day once in a year, touching then every chord of praise in their being, thinking that this is the way God wants them to show their gratitude. But the annual Thanksgiving day is not intended to gather into itself the thanksgiving for a whole year; rather it is intended to give the keynote for all the year's life. Life's true concert pitch is praise. If we find that we are below the right pitch, we should take advantage of the particular thanksgiving seasons to get keyed up. When the strings of life begin to grow discordant thanksgiving will put us in tune.

The ideal life is one of gladness. Unthankfulness and fretfulness are discords in the song. We have no right to live gloomily or sadly. God where we may, we hear the music of joy, unless our ears have become tone-deaf. The world is full of beauty and full of music. Yet it is strange how many people seem neither to see the loveliness nor hear the music. It were well if many of us would train ourselves to see the glory and goodness of God, as revealed in nature. We would be sad to leave this world, after staying in it three-score or four-score years without having seen any of the ten thousand beauties with which God had adorned it. "Consider the lilies," said Jesus. Every sweet flower has a message of joy to him who can read the writing. One who loves God's flowers and birds and trees and mountains and rivers and seas, and has learned to heed the voices which everywhere whisper their secrets to him who understands, can never be sad or lonely. The power to hear what nature's voices have to say is in our hearts, not merely in the ear. We must have the beauty in our souls before we can see beauty anywhere. Hence there are many who are really blind to the loveliness which God has strewn everywhere, with most lavish hand, in his works. So we must have the music in our hearts before we can hear the music which sings everywhere for him who has ears to hear. If we have thanksgiving within us, we will have no trouble in finding gladness wherever we go. It is a sad and cheerless heart that makes the world seem dreary to certain people; if only they will let joy enter to dwell within.

Notice Of Application For Pardon.

A. E. Wilson, for a pardon, and all who object will notify the Governor and state in writing any objection to said pardon.

Their First Thanksgiving

By CARLOS BAYARD.

"AN nothing be done?" asked Caroline anxiously.
Vance Greenway shook his head.
"Not yet, dear," he explained. "I have considered the matter carefully and I think it will be best to wait."
"It won't make any difference in our marriage," she pleaded.
"We can get married to-morrow," he declared. "I want to go to town and get to work on my own book."
"There is nothing to prevent," assented the girl. "It is not as though I had a lot of relatives to consult."
"Then let's be married and get out of the way. It will make such a lot of talk," pleaded Vance.
He found when he left the girl that he had not exaggerated. Already the news that David Greenway had disowned his son had spread through the village, and the circumstantial reports of the row which had terminated in the dismissal had gained a wealth of detail in its rapid travel.

David Greenway was the richest man in Greenway, and Vance had already made rapid advancement in the local bank, an advancement not altogether unconnected with his father's influence as the largest stockholder. He had resigned his position that morning, and the following day, after a quiet wedding ceremony in the parsonage of the church, he and Carol set out for the city where Vance would start anew.
It was not an easy matter to find a position, even with the recommendation which the cashier of the home bank had given him, but in time Vance found a place, and they settled down to make a home in a tiny flat whose five rooms were scarcely larger than the dining room of the Greenway mansion.

The months sped by all too fast, and even when Vance had earned a raise in salary, and had been advanced to a more responsible position, she would not move.
"We'll save the rest," she declared. "It does seem so cozy here, dear. It's our first home. We shall have much to be thankful for next week."
"That's so," agreed Vance. "By the way, I've got an invitation to Thanksgiving dinner, so don't lay in a turkey."

Carol's face fell. She had been planning to make their first Thanksgiving a notable one, but she tried to smile her satisfaction at Vance's announcement.

Vance would make no explanation other than to say that the invitation came from an old friend, and the evening before the holiday he came home early and helped her pack her prettiest things in a suit case.
Not even when they arrived at the station did he enlighten her as to their destination, but the next morning, as the train neared the old home and she began to catch glimpses of familiar scenes through the front-traced car windows, the tears came unbidden to her eyes.

As they encountered the curious glances of old acquaintances, she was glad that she had let Vance persuade her to purchase a set of furs. She wanted to look her best for his sake, but she did not realize the attractive picture she made as the sharp breeze brought fresh color to her cheeks and lent an added sparkle to the brown eyes.
Vance, sitting beside her, clasped his hands over hers.
"We shall have much to be thankful for this first Thanksgiving," he said tenderly. "But most of all I am thankful that you are my wife, dear."

She smiled her answer, too close to tears to speak, but as they turned in at a driveway she heard her voice.
"There is some mistake," she cried. "Surely you are not going to your father's?"
"Surely we are," he said with a happy laugh. "Do you suppose that any other Thanksgiving dinner would tempt me from my own home?"
"But—you have made up your mind," she asked.

"We never really quarreled," he explained. "I was dissatisfied at the bank. I wanted to be sure of myself; to know that on my own effort I could make my way. Father and I planned the dramatic scene for the benefit of the public. I did not tell you, for I wanted him to see that it was for myself and not my money that you cared. I was to have a trial for six months. The probation ended last week."

"And you are coming back home to live?" she asked. Vance nodded.
"There is my father waiting to welcome us to our new home," he said. "The honeymoon ends with our Thanksgiving, and dad has a new daughter—the best that ever was—to make him thankful, too."

A BAPTIST ELDER

Restored to Health by Vinol

"I was run down and weak from indigestion and general debility, also suffered from vertigo. I saw a cod liver preparation called Vinol advertised and decided to give it a trial, and the results were most gratifying. After taking two bottles I regained my strength and am now feeling unusually well." Henry Cunningham, Elder Baptist Church, Kingston, N. C.
Vinol is not a patent medicine—but a preparation composed of the medicinal elements of cod's livers, combined with a tonic iron and wine. Vinol creates a hearty appetite, tones up the organs of digestion and makes rich, red blood. In this natural manner, Vinol creates strength for the run-down, overworked and debilitated, and for delicate children and old people. For chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis Vinol is unexcelled.
All such persons in this vicinity are asked to try Vinol on our offer to refund their money if it fails to give satisfaction.

Farm and Stock.

It is said that 20,000 cows are now milked with machinery. The milking machine when found all right will go into general use as cream separators have.

The Burley Tobacco Co., of Lexington sold 110,000 pounds of tobacco at an average of $17.50 per hundred, an advance over the best prices of last year's crop from $2 to $3.—Jesse News.

S. C. Carpenter, of Millersburg, sold forty Jersey cows at Mc. Sterling for $2,800, an average of $70 apiece. This was the best lot of Jerseys sold in Kentucky, outside of registered stock, in more than ten years.—Carlisle Mercury.

The flow of milk is not large when cows do not have plenty of good water, and water and feeding is a better way to mix it than at the pump, as a due proportion is obtained in this way. Why not select good cows as we select good seed corn and wheat? There are poor results when this rule is not applied to cows as well as seed.

David Greenway was the richest man in Greenway, and Vance had already made rapid advancement in the local bank, an advancement not altogether unconnected with his father's influence as the largest stockholder. He had resigned his position that morning, and the following day, after a quiet wedding ceremony in the parsonage of the church, he and Carol set out for the city where Vance would start anew.

It was not an easy matter to find a position, even with the recommendation which the cashier of the home bank had given him, but in time Vance found a place, and they settled down to make a home in a tiny flat whose five rooms were scarcely larger than the dining room of the Greenway mansion.

The months sped by all too fast, and even when Vance had earned a raise in salary, and had been advanced to a more responsible position, she would not move.
"We'll save the rest," she declared. "It does seem so cozy here, dear. It's our first home. We shall have much to be thankful for next week."

"That's so," agreed Vance. "By the way, I've got an invitation to Thanksgiving dinner, so don't lay in a turkey."

Carol's face fell. She had been planning to make their first Thanksgiving a notable one, but she tried to smile her satisfaction at Vance's announcement.

Vance would make no explanation other than to say that the invitation came from an old friend, and the evening before the holiday he came home early and helped her pack her prettiest things in a suit case.
Not even when they arrived at the station did he enlighten her as to their destination, but the next morning, as the train neared the old home and she began to catch glimpses of familiar scenes through the front-traced car windows, the tears came unbidden to her eyes.

As they encountered the curious glances of old acquaintances, she was glad that she had let Vance persuade her to purchase a set of furs. She wanted to look her best for his sake, but she did not realize the attractive picture she made as the sharp breeze brought fresh color to her cheeks and lent an added sparkle to the brown eyes.

Vance, sitting beside her, clasped his hands over hers.
"We shall have much to be thankful for this first Thanksgiving," he said tenderly. "But most of all I am thankful that you are my wife, dear."

She smiled her answer, too close to tears to speak, but as they turned in at a driveway she heard her voice.
"There is some mistake," she cried. "Surely you are not going to your father's?"
"But—you have made up your mind," she asked.

"We never really quarreled," he explained. "I was dissatisfied at the bank. I wanted to be sure of myself; to know that on my own effort I could make my way. Father and I planned the dramatic scene for the benefit of the public. I did not tell you, for I wanted him to see that it was for myself and not my money that you cared. I was to have a trial for six months. The probation ended last week."

"And you are coming back home to live?" she asked. Vance nodded.

Clara Morris and Husbands.
It is fully to call the husbands the head of the house; he is not, says Clara Morris, the famous actress, in Housekeeper. It is but a courtesy title at best, since in truth he is but an incident in the home life, while the wife and mother is its whole existence; literally the sun of domestic happiness rises and sets in the face of the wife and mother.

THANKSGIVING
Though wan skies show no sign of spring,
And every breeze be from the north,
Both praise and prayer let us uplift
That there is peace, that there is truth,
And such a generous store
From shore to shore!
And let our clear acclaim
More than lip-service be
While rivers and white mountains frame
With us Thanksgiving to His name,
Swelling the jubilee
From sea to sea!
—Clinton Scollard, in The Sunday Magazine.

WAS GIVEN UP TO DIE.
B. Spiegel, 1204 N. Virginia St., Evansville, Ind., writes: "For over five years I was troubled with kidney and bladder affections which caused me much pain and worry. I lost flesh and was all run down, and a year ago had to abandon work entirely. I had three of the best physicians who did me no good and I was practically given up to die. Foley's Kidney Cure was recommended, and the first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking the second bottle I was entirely cured."
